For Neuralgia, nothing is better than Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Used by thousands for a generation. Those who have suffered from neuralgia pains need not be told how necessary it is to secure relief. The easiest way out of neuralgia is to use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They have relieved sufferers for so many years that they have become a household necessity. "I have taken Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for five years and they are the only thing that does me any good. They have relieved neuralgia in my head in fifteen minutes. I have also taken them for rheumatism, headache, pains in the breast, toothache, earache and pains in the bowels and limbs. I have found nothing to equal them and they are all that is claimed for them." J. W. Bickel to Blue Springs, Mo. At all drug stores—25 doses 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. A NEW BOOK.

The old saying, "of the making of books there is no end," is probably true nearly true to day and ever before. So the publication of a new book is not usually the signal for general public excitement. But when the new book is written with particular reference to a certain class or group of people, the members of that group are justified in noting carefully its contents. Negroes then will be interested in reading "Democracy and Race Friction" by John Moffatt Mecklin. Ph. D. professor of philosophy in the University of Pittsburgh. Prof. Mecklin's book is saturated with a militant and all-absorbing Anglo-Saxonism; and is the frankest statement yet put forth by those who believe in the divinity and infallibility of the white man, and that the Negro in America has no rights whatever. It is above the average type in force and clarity of statement, and by being couched in rather scientific phraseology, will be likely to catch the fancy and command the belief of the unthinking. The style of composition is on its face almost purely expositional, but the exposition is deftly carried out in such a manner as to constitute a strong, subtle and menacing argument.

Apart from the many little argumentative side implications in which the author delights to indulge, such for instance as that the Anglo-Saxon race is the chief creator, preserver and guardian of civilization, the main purpose of the book is to convince the American people of two things: (1) that the Negro being of a different ethnic type from the white man and possessing different racial characteristics, can never appropriate to himself nor realize within his own life those culture ideals of civilization which constitute the white man's peculiar social heritage; and therefore, (2) the American people should exclude the Negro from any participation in our social democracy, and should deny him every form of equality, including equality before the law.

Now if it were possible to sustain the argument assumed in the first proposition, namely, that the Negro in America cannot take in and take on the best in American civilization, the deduction that therefore he has no natural rights and should be denied equality before the law, exemplifies a species of logic of which John Stuart Mill would hardly be proud. But the attempt to show that one ethnic group cannot appropriate and absorb the civilization achieved by another ethnic group—that assumption is so contrary to the history of civilization, and so totally at variance with contemporary human events that it really amounts to a crude and gross absurdity. No race, as Prof. Kelly Miller has already pointed out, has a sole proprietorship in civilization; and if the Anglo-Saxon race had been under the necessity of inventing its own alphabet and symbols to represent numbers or evolving its own religion, or enriching or elaborating without borrowing from the Latin its own language, or creating without the benefit of previous models its own system of jurisprudence, that case those people today would be in the same state they were when the Caesars used to sell them in the slave markets of Rome. In trying to show that the Negro cannot acquire what he calls the white man's social heritage, Prof. Mecklin reshapes a lot of matter that has been exploded time and time again, besides mis-stating, misinterpreting and suppressing facts.

There are two broad and fundamental considerations that Prof. Mecklin ignores. One is that the Negro is, after all, a human being; and the other is that ethics cannot be divorced from the problem. But Prof. Mecklin has no patience with any effort to inject any considerations of equity or humanitarianism into the matter. He denounces the attitude of those who believe that the Negro has natural and inalienable rights in the case as an "uncritical humanitarianism," and repudiates Prof. Royce of Harvard as being an "uncritical humanitarianism."

Dixon, Vardaman, Thomas Nelson Page, Ben Tillman—they are philosophers. But Josiah Royce, professor of philosophy of Harvard—is uncritical. But Prof. Mecklin's plea will be in vain. The greatest Americans will never repudiate equity, and they will never consent to pervert those fundamental doctrines of natural rights, and equality before the law, which are the particular safeguards of our civilization. Prof. Mecklin's book does not add anything of value to the literature of the problem he has under discussion. W. E. GRIFFIN.

THE DIXIE JUBILEE CONCERT COMPANY.

The Best Jubilee Company in the World.

Chautauques that are to have the Dixies on their programs next summer may well congratulate themselves on having the greatest Jubilee company in the world. This is saying a great deal, but can be easily proven. There are no great companies of this kind outside of the United States. In this country, the Dixies stand easily at the head of all similar companies. Mr. Buckner is one of the best informed leaders of his race in the north and the most efficient Jubilee manager in the country today. He has made a study of Negro melody and has kept in close touch with researches along those lines at Tuskegee and other institutions. The result has been that while other companies have been giving a minstrel program, the Dixies are presenting programs of genuine Negro folk lore and melody. Buckner is proud to present the folk songs of his race as they really should be given, with the genuine feeling as well as the technical ability that reveals the vocal outburst of a race in bondage.

Another reason for the phenomenal success of the Dixie Company, is the beautiful soprano voice of Madame Neal Buckner, who is conceded to be the greatest soprano of her race. No one who has heard her beautiful rendition of the "Swanee River" or any of the other old favorites will ever forget that marvelous voice. She has starred in some of the greatest theatrical companies this country has known. She prefers traveling with her husband in the more congenial lyceum and Chautauque work. It is due to this fact alone that she is with this company.—Entertainment Review.

The Criterion Theatre is putting on a most pleasing and entertaining bill this week in addition to the Negro pictures which are pronounced by all the best ever shown in this city. Under the management of Mr. Homer B. Roberts, this theatre is obtaining its former prestige and glory and is being crowded nightly by the best people of the city.

More Mothers Testify to Merits of XXth Century Hair Preparations.

Nelson, Mo., April 13, 1913. Dear Madam Dabney: I am writing you for a small order. I want you to please send by mail 3 bottles of shampoo, 3 boxes of hair grower and 2 boxes of pressing oil. I like the remedy just fine; I would not be without it for anything. I am using it on my little girl's hair; it seems to be helping it greatly.

MRS. ANNA BRUNER.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 20, 1913. Dear Madam Dabney: I am a mother of four girls. In trying to improve their hair I had tried several preparations, but none gave me good results until I used Madam Dabney's XXth Century Preparations. Their hair was thin, harsh and would fall out so that I dreaded to use a comb. Now their hair is growing nicely—does not fall out—has no dandruff—is soft and pretty. Three of these girls are attending Wendell Phillips School, Howard and Vine streets. Investigation will bear out my testimony. I would not be without the XXth Century Preparation in my house.

MRS. DORA HAWKINS,

A six weeks' treatment of Madam P. M. Dabney's XXth Century Hair Preparations sent on receipt of P. O. money order of $1.25, or a single package of XXth Century Hair Grower, Pressing Oil or Shampoo sent for 50c. Write today to Madam P. M. Dabney's XXth Century Hair Preparations Co., 1806 E. 24th St., Kansas City, Mo., Dept. 40.

There is a reason why the larger per cent of Cabinet Stationery used by Kansas City's "409" is turned from the Arthur W. Harris Printing Establishment. First their workmanship in this class of service is unexcelled by any of the larger and best equipped establishments in this city, since they all but make a specialty of this class of work. Second, while their prices are not always the lowest, they are always the fairest. They have delivered with accuracy and despatch to over 90 per cent of the classy weddings and receptions during the past year and now when a function of class is announced its a ten-to-one shot that Harris will handle the job.

Mrs. B. F. Wilson of 1306 Paseo, writes from Chicago that she is having a delightful visit and will leave September 1 for the South and East to visit relatives and friends. She says that there is no paper that she has been able to read that compares with the Sun and sends the following catchy little poem to the paper: Oh the Sun, the dear old Sun, But not the one that shines, The paper's like its Editor, It's right up with the times.

I'm going South in a day or two, But I shall not go to stay, And I want the pleasure of reading the Sun While I am far away.

I've taken the paper eight long years And I'll take it eight years more, For I never saw a paper grow As this one has, before. Yours for the race, NANNIE B. WILSON.
